Corporations Act 2001 – Paragraphs 655A(1)(a) and 673(1)(a) – Exemptions

Pursuant to paragraphs 655A(1)(a) and 673(1)(a) of the Corporations Act 2001 (“Act”) if the Associates have a relevant interest in more than 17% of the Securities, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (“ASIC”) exempts the person mentioned in Schedule A in the case mentioned in Schedule B, to the extent and on the conditions set out below.

First Exemption

The Broker is exempt from section 606 of the Act in relation to the acquisitions mentioned in Schedule B, and the Associates are exempt from section 606 in relation to any voting power conferred on them by interests held by the Broker pursuant to such acquisitions, on the following conditions:

- (a) The Broker disposes of their interest in any Securities acquired in reliance on this exemption within 14 days after acquisition;
- (b) The Broker does not sell a Security to a person if it knows or believes that person would contravene section 606 by acquiring the Security;
- (c) The Broker does not exercise any voting rights attaching to the Securities at any time while holding the Securities, without ASIC's consent;
- (d) The Broker does not at any time have more than 3% of the Securities on issue in reliance on this exemption;

Second Exemption

The Broker is exempt from Chapter 6C of the Act, and the Associates are exempt from Chapter 6C in relation to any voting power conferred on them by interests held by the Broker in relation to Securities acquired pursuant to this exemption, in relation to:

- the acquisitions mentioned in Schedule B; and
- any Security which is a Sold Security at 9.30 am on the third business day after its acquisition.

This exemption is given on condition that, if at 9.30am on the third business day after that acquisition, the Broker's voting power attached to the Securities is 5% or greater, the Broker then complies with Part 6C of the Act in relation to the voting power arising from that acquisition.

For the purposes of the conditions, treat the Broker as no longer having a relevant interest in a Security (a "Sold Security"), if the Broker has agreed to sell the Security under a contract which is subject to no conditions which would not be implied into an open contract entered into on the financial market operated by the Australian Stock Exchange Limited, other than a condition postponing settlement until completion of the acquisition mentioned in Schedule B.

Australian Securities and Investments Commission Corporations Act 2001 – Paragraph 1020F(1)(a) – Revocation and Exemption

1. Under paragraph 1020F(1)(a) of the Corporations Act 2001 (the “Act”), the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (“ASIC”) revokes ASIC Instrument [06/812] dated 8 September 2006.
2. For the avoidance of doubt under paragraph 1020F(1)(a) of the Act, ASIC exempts Brambles Industries plc (Company No. 4134697) (“BIP”), a body corporate incorporated under the laws of the United Kingdom, and Brambles Limited (ACN 118 896 021) from Division 5A of Part 7.9 of the Act in the case set out in Schedule A on the condition specified in Schedule B for so long as that condition is met.

Schedule A

An unsolicited offer made under a compromise or arrangement (“UK Scheme of Arrangement”) under section 425 of the UK Companies Act 1985 between BIP and its shareholders, under which Brambles Limited (“BL”) and a wholly-owned subsidiary of a wholly-owned subsidiary of BL are proposed to become the sole shareholders of BIP.

Schedule B

BIP and BL must take reasonable steps to ensure that the UK Scheme of Arrangement is carried out in accordance with the relevant regulatory requirements applicable to the UK Scheme of Arrangement, to the extent that those regulatory requirements apply respectively to those bodies corporate.

Interpretation

In this instrument:

unsolicited offer means:

- (a) an offer to which Division 5A of Part 7.9 of the Act applies because of section 1019D of the Act; and
- (b) an invitation covered by section 1019F of the Act.
