ASIC DIGITAL SERVICES ACCESS

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Date: 25 May 2026

1 About the ASIC Digital Services

- 1.1 The ASIC Digital Services allows data to be sent to and from ASIC to submit transactions and request information searches of the ASIC Registers.
- 1.2 Access to, and use of, the ASIC Digital Services is subject to these Terms.
- 1.3 Approved Digital Service Providers may also be subject to additional ASIC terms and conditions for ASIC Registered Agents and electronic lodgement.

2 Application of Terms

- 2.1 These Terms take effect from the date they are published on the ASIC website at www.asic.gov.au and apply as soon as you are provided access to or begin using the ASIC Digital Services (whichever occurs first). By accessing or using the ASIC Digital Services, you acknowledge and agree that you are bound by these Terms, as updated from time to time.
- 2.2 ASIC may update these Terms from time to time. ASIC will notify you of updates by email, however it is your responsibility to undertake regular checks for updates to these Terms on ASIC's website at www.asic.gov.au.

3 Approved Digital Service Provider Requirements

- 3.1 At all times, an Approved Digital Service Provider (DSP) must have an Australian Business Number (ABN).
- 3.2 An Approved DSP must appoint a person to act as the Administrator on your behalf. You must ensure that the Administrator is responsible for approving and managing all requests to access the ASIC Digital Services and for receiving notifications from ASIC by email.
- 3.3 You must provide ASIC with your DSP details and notify ASIC within 14 days if your DSP details change. Your DSP details are:
 - (a) business address;
 - (b) email address;
 - (c) telephone during business hours;
 - (d) name, direct telephone number and direct email address of your Administrator; and

(e) name, direct telephone number and direct email address of an alternative contact person.

4 Access to the ASIC Digital Services

4.1 You must be an Approved DSP to access the ASIC Digital Services.

4.2 Approval as an Approved DSP gives you a limited, revocable, non-exclusive licence to access, implement and use the ASIC Digital Services to perform the permitted Transactions. ASIC reserves all other rights in respect of the ASIC Digital Services, and you acknowledge, specifically and without limitation, that:

- (a) ASIC confers no proprietary rights or interest in the ASIC Digital Services through your registration or use;
- (b) ASIC may require you to supply samples of your user interface and any related products from time to time, and you must provide them as and when required by ASIC;
- (c) your access and use of the ASIC Digital Services do not constitute an approval or endorsement by ASIC of your user interface, services or related products; and
- (d) ASIC may, in its discretion, provide a user interface for members of the public to access and use the ASIC Digital Services.

4.3 You may develop a system including hardware, software and communication links, to access the ASIC Digital Services by a user interface for ASIC Customers in accordance with ASIC's Message Specification published on ASIC's website or provided to you from time to time. You are responsible for obtaining, installing and maintaining the system and all costs associated with your access and use of the ASIC Digital Services.

4.4 You may outsource to a third party the development of a user interface to access the ASIC Digital Services. To do this:

- (a) you must ensure the third-party developer is aware of, and complies with, these Terms;
- (b) you are responsible for any third-party supported or hosted system including any equipment.

4.5 To commence access to the ASIC Digital Services, you must have:

- (a) thoroughly tested your system within your own environment and with ASIC's Test Database; and
- (b) established that your system and user interface comply with all ASIC's Digital Services Requirements including implementation of the Message Specifications and any other technical specifications and other standards and requirements advised by ASIC and adherence to ASIC's approved forms and notices.

4.6 You acknowledge that ASIC:

- (a) will not provide any software or equipment required for you to send data to, and receive data from, ASIC to access the ASIC Digital Services;
- (b) is not responsible for the quality or suitability of any system or user interface developed by you or a third party; and
- (c) will not provide any technical support for your system or user interface.

5 Use of the Services

Keeping your system and user interface up to date

- 5.1 You must only make available a system and user interface that complies with ASIC's Digital Services Requirements to access and use the ASIC Digital Services.
- 5.2 It is your responsibility to undertake regular checks to ensure your system and user interface comply with ASIC's Digital Services Requirements including any updates as a result of legislative amendments or ASIC's requirements that facilitate the administration of legislation.
- 5.3 If a new version of the Message Specifications is issued, you must update your system and user interface to comply with the current version within three months of the date of issue, or such other time agreed between you and ASIC.
- 5.4 If ASIC notifies you of proposed changes to an approved form or notice or any other technical requirement, you must update your system and user interface to comply with the proposed change within the time ASIC reasonably requires.

Authentication

- 5.5 You must ensure your system authenticates the ASIC Customer in accordance with ASIC's authentication requirements. ASIC authentication requirements:
 - (a) are set out in the Message Specifications; and
 - (b) may include username and password, Corporate Key or ASIC Key.

Authorised use

- 5.6 You acknowledge and agree that ASIC will rely on submitted Transactions unless ASIC is notified that the Transactions are not authorised.
- 5.7 It is your responsibility to comply with all applicable security measures, including those set out in clause 7 below, to protect and maintain the security of your access to the ASIC Digital Services.
- 5.8 You must not, and must not enable others to use your system, user interface, or access to the ASIC Digital Services to:
 - (a) gain unauthorised access to any part of the ASIC Registers that is unrelated to your companies, businesses or specific ASIC Customers, or to any other non-public ASIC databases;
 - (b) copy (except where expressly permitted by ASIC), decompile, reverse engineer, disassemble, attempt to derive the source code or, decrypt or modify any software within the ASIC system;
 - (c) use any deep-link, web-content scraping, or other automatic device, program, algorithm or methodology to:
 - (i) access, acquire, copy or monitor any part of the ASIC website, the ASIC Registers, or their content without ASIC's prior written consent;
 - (ii) in any way, reproduce or circumvent the navigational structure of the ASIC website; or
 - (iii) obtain, or attempt to obtain, any materials, documents or information through means that are not intentionally made available by ASIC through the ASIC website; or
 - (d) use the ASIC Digital Services to submit, post or transmit any offensive or objectional content.

Adverse impact

- 5.9 ASIC will notify you if your access to and use of the ASIC Digital Services is causing an adverse impact on any ASIC systems and ASIC may direct you to immediately suspend the submission of Transactions or requests for a specified period of time, and you must immediately comply with any such direction.

Not harmful, malicious or destructive

5.10 You must:

- (a) ensure that your system that accesses and uses the ASIC Digital Services does not contain any computer program, device or code that is harmful, destructive, disabling or which assists in or enables theft or unauthorised alteration of data; and
- (b) implement security measures to prevent the transfer of any such harmful, malicious or destructive program, virus or code into the ASIC system.

6 Service availability and upgrades

- 6.1 We intend the ASIC Digital Services to be available at all times, however ASIC cannot, and does not warrant continuous and uninterrupted availability or accessibility. ASIC will provide notice of unscheduled downtimes and scheduled maintenance on ASIC's website (www.asic.gov.au) and by email.
- 6.2 ASIC may upgrade the functionality, capabilities and technology of the ASIC Digital Services at any time. ASIC will endeavour to provide reasonable notice by email of any changes that ASIC considers should be advised to Approved DSPs. In no event will ASIC be obliged to provide notice exceeding 14 days.
- 6.3 You are responsible for undertaking regular checks for any upgrades on ASIC's website.

7 Security measures

- 7.1 You must ensure that access to the ASIC Digital Services is restricted to your authorised officers and employees and your authorised officers and employees are aware of and comply with these Terms.
- 7.2 You must implement security measures, including any security procedures or requirements notified by ASIC, to protect and maintain the security of your access to the ASIC Digital Services including maintaining the security of all usernames, passwords, ASIC Keys, and any other information relating to access, authentication and security of the ASIC Digital Services.
- 7.3 You must:
 - (a) take all reasonable steps to prevent and detect unlawful and unauthorised use of your access to the ASIC Digital Services and prevent unauthorised disclosure of information obtained through the ASIC Digital Services; and
 - (b) not use any other user's username, password, Corporate Key or ASIC Key to access or use the ASIC Digital Services, except as a Notified Person under clause 11 below.
- 7.4 You must immediately notify ASIC if you know or suspect that access or authentication security information has been compromised or any other kind of unlawful or unauthorised use or security breach has occurred.
- 7.5 You acknowledge and agree that ASIC may monitor and log any access and use of the ASIC Digital Services.
- 7.6 You must provide ASIC with any information ASIC reasonably requests in relation to your access and use of the ASIC Digital Services.

8 General Obligations

- 8.1 You must maintain accurate and complete logs and records of all transactions directly relating to your access to and use of the ASIC Digital Services.
- 8.2 You must promptly report faults, failures or errors previously unreported in respect of the ASIC Digital Services to ASIC.

- 8.3 You must not submit continuous and repetitive messages to check service availability, or otherwise probe, scan or test the vulnerability of the ASIC Digital Services.
- 8.4 You warrant that you will not make misleading or deceptive statements in relation to the ASIC Digital Services, ASIC Registers or any other services or information provided by ASIC.
- 8.5 You must not engage in conduct in the course of your activities, which in ASIC's opinion, is likely to diminish the public confidence in the ASIC Registers or ASIC Digital Services or bring the status of Approved DSPs into disrepute.
- 8.6 You must act in accordance with any reasonable directions given by ASIC.

9 Contacting ASIC

- 9.1 ASIC will use its best endeavours to provide email support for Approved DSPs of the ASIC Digital Services during Business Hours.
- 9.2 ASIC may use any information you have given to ASIC to verify your identity.
- 9.3 You must not at any time provide false or misleading information about your identity when you deal with ASIC.

10 Marketing

- 10.1 You must ensure that any marketing or promotion of your system to access the ASIC Digital Services and your business is accurate, lawful and not prejudicial to the good reputation or the objectives of ASIC.
- 10.2 You must not send direct communications to offer, advertise or promote your services or products that access the ASIC Digital Services unless:
 - (a) your communications clearly set out your entity's name, ABN and contact details; and
 - (b) you remove the name and details of any recipient from your mailing list upon their request.
- 10.3 You must ensure that your business marketing and communication products and any related materials include content that clearly distinguishes you as a private service provider and independent of ASIC. The content must:
 - (a) clearly display your registered business name on each product;
 - (b) not contain any statements that infer or may suggest that ASIC endorses your services or products or that you are authorised by ASIC; and
 - (c) not include any ASIC logo, or any logos, colours and designs that are similar to or likely to be confused with any logos, colours or designs of ASIC.
- 10.4 Without limiting the foregoing, you must not in connection with your business name or any marketing materials use any words or expressions that:
 - (a) may confuse or mislead customers in any way about your business;
 - (b) suggest you are authorised or endorsed by a government body; or
 - (c) are substantially the same, or may be taken to have the same meaning, as any of the following expressions, if ASIC reasonably believe your use of the expression may confuse or mislead customers:
 - (i) Registered Agent;
 - (ii) Business Name Registration;
 - (iii) Business Name Renewal;
 - (iv) Company Registration; and

- (v) Company Review.

11 Customer interactions

- 11.1 You may provide a direct ASIC Customer user interface to submit Transactions to the Services, or you may submit a Transaction on behalf of an ASIC Customer.
- 11.2 You may submit a Transaction on behalf of an ASIC Customer only if you:
- (a) are a Notified Person for the ASIC Customer;
 - (b) have informed the ASIC Customer about your Notified Person role;
 - (c) disclose your service fees prior to accepting payment for a Transaction and clearly distinguish your service fees from the statutory fees for any Transaction;
 - (d) have written authorisation to submit the Transaction as a Notified Person, which must include:
 - (i) authorisation to submit the Transaction on the ASIC Customer's behalf;
 - (ii) disclosure of your service fees to submit the Transaction; and
 - (iii) your entity details and details of how a customer may contact you; and
 - (e) provide a copy of the written authorisation to the ASIC Customer.
- 11.3 You must provide ASIC with a copy of the written authorisation to submit a Transaction on an ASIC Customer's behalf and the contact details of the ASIC Customer that authorised the Transaction within 7 days of ASIC's request or such further time as agreed by ASIC.
- 11.4 If ASIC sends you an ASIC Key or Corporate Key as a Notified Person, you must provide the key to the relevant ASIC Customer.
- 11.5 You must ensure that your services and products, including any customer help or guidance, comply with and keep up to date with legislative requirements and ASIC's requirements that facilitate the administration of legislation.
- 11.6 You must act honestly, fairly and in a timely manner in dealing with ASIC Customer disputes.
- 11.7 If an ASIC Customer has raised a dispute with ASIC about your services, ASIC may direct you to contact the customer and keep ASIC informed of your dealing with the dispute.

12 Use and disclosure of information

- 12.1 Information provided by you, or collected, stored, used and disclosed by ASIC, may include personal information, which has the same meaning as in the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth).
- 12.2 ASIC's Privacy Policy (www.asic.gov.au/privacy) describes how ASIC handles personal information, and individuals' rights to seek access to and correct personal information, and to complain about breaches of privacy by ASIC.
- 12.3 You must comply with the Australian Privacy Principles under the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) in your disclosure, collection, use and management of personal information in connection with the ASIC Digital Services. Without limiting the foregoing:
- (a) it is your responsibility to obtain the requisite consent from each individual before you submit any Transaction containing their personal information;
 - (b) you must comply with ASIC's Privacy Policy in respect of any personal information that you obtain from ASIC through the ASIC Digital Services, or collect or handle in connection with your use of the ASIC Digital Services;

- (c) you must immediately notify ASIC in writing if there are reasonable grounds to suspect there may have been an Eligible Data Breach or possible breach of any of the obligations contained in the Australian Privacy Principles, and you must not do anything, which if done by ASIC would breach an Australian Privacy Principle; and
- (d) you must not disclose or use any personal information obtained through the ASIC Digital Services to any person or for any purpose unless the disclosure or use is permissible by law.

13 Notifiable Data Breach

13.1 Unless otherwise directed by ASIC, if you become aware that there are reasonable grounds to suspect that there may have been an Eligible Data Breach in relation to any personal information as a result of the ASIC Digital Services, you must:

- (a) immediately report it to ASIC and provide a written report within three (3) Business Days; and
- (b) carry out an assessment in accordance with the requirements of the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth).

13.2 Unless otherwise directed by ASIC, if you are aware that there are reasonable grounds to suspect that there has been an Eligible Data Breach in relation to the ASIC Digital Services, or where ASIC notifies you that there has been an Eligible Data Breach, you must immediately:

- (a) take all reasonable action to mitigate the risk of the Eligible Data Breach causing serious harm to any individual to which the personal information relates;
- (b) take all other action necessary to comply with the requirements of the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth), and
- (c) take any other action as reasonably directed by ASIC.

14 Subcontracting

14.1 Subcontracting any part of your obligations under these Terms, will not relieve you of any of your obligations under these Terms.

14.2 You must ensure that any subcontract entered into by you, for the purposes of fulfilling your obligations regarding privacy and notifiable data breaches under these Terms, imposes on the Subcontractor the same obligations that you have under these Terms (including this requirement in relation to subcontracts).

14.3 You must make available to ASIC the details of all Subcontractors and you must acknowledge that ASIC may be required to publicly disclose such information.

14.4 You must notify ASIC in writing as soon as reasonably practicable if you become aware of a Subcontractor breach or possible breach of the obligations contained in clause 13.

15 Confidentiality

15.1 You must not, without ASIC's prior written consent, disclose or use any Confidential Information received or obtained by you from ASIC unless, and except to the extent that:

- (a) the Confidential Information is publicly available, other than through your fault, negligence or breach of these Terms; or
- (b) any disclosure or use by you is required by law.

16 Disclaimer

- 16.1 You acknowledge that the speed and characteristics of the ASIC Digital Services will vary at times and under varied circumstances and may not always function as described, and may be subject to faults, interruption or breakdown or be fully or partially unavailable.
- 16.2 While ASIC endeavours to ensure that information provided through the ASIC Digital Services is accurate and error-free you acknowledge that ASIC will not be responsible for any inaccuracy, omission, defect or error in the information. ASIC will not be liable for any loss or damage, however arising, which may be caused by the use of the information, and you waive any such right against ASIC.
- 16.3 You acknowledge that ASIC will use reasonable endeavours to ensure that the information provided through the ASIC Digital Services is free from computer virus infections, spyware or any other malicious content.

17 Indemnity

- 17.1 You indemnify ASIC from and against any losses or claims arising out of or as a consequence of any breach of any of these Terms by you or any of your officers, employees, agents, Subcontractors or contractors; or your negligent, wrongful, or unlawful act or omission in relation to your access to and use of the ASIC Digital Services.

18 Suspension, cancellation and termination

- 18.1 You may cancel your access to the ASIC Digital Services at any time by notifying ASIC in writing.
- 18.2 You must notify ASIC in writing immediately if you become aware of any breach or possible breach of these Terms and advise ASIC:
- (a) of all actions taken to remedy the breach; and
 - (b) of any actions undertaken to avoid a reoccurrence.
- 18.3 ASIC may, in its discretion and without limiting its rights under these Terms, immediately limit or suspend your access to the ASIC Digital Services for a period of time ASIC determines where ASIC knows or reasonably suspects or believes you:
- (a) have failed to comply with a direction given by ASIC under these Terms within the time required;
 - (b) have breached these Terms and if such breach is capable of remedy, failed to remedy the breach within the time required after receiving notice from ASIC to remedy the breach;
 - (c) have breached these Terms and such breach is not capable of being remedied;
 - (d) have provided ASIC with incomplete, inaccurate, false or misleading information;
 - (e) have been, or may be, the subject of an Eligible Data Breach; or
 - (f) are probing, scanning, testing, or otherwise submitting continuous and repetitive messages impacting the ASIC Digital Services.
- 18.4 To reconnect your access following suspension under clause 18.318.3(d), ASIC may require you to notify ASIC in writing the reasons for the repetitive messages or breach and provide assurance that the problem has been resolved and will not reoccur.
- 18.5 ASIC may, by giving you written notice, terminate your access to the ASIC Digital Services at any time where ASIC knows or reasonably suspects or otherwise believes that:
- (a) you have breached any of these Terms;
 - (b) you have been, or may be, the subject of an Eligible Data Breach;

- (c) you have provided ASIC with incomplete, inaccurate, false or misleading information;
- (d) you have entered into an insolvency event;
- (e) you cause significant adverse impacts to ASIC's systems and processes;
- (f) your access has become inactive; or
- (g) you have failed to comply with any other requirements provided for under these Terms.

18.6 ASIC may terminate your access to the ASIC Digital Services at any time with or without notice if you, your officeholders or any of your authorised officers or employees are:

- (a) the subject of an unresolved complaint, inquiry or investigation into the conduct of your business activities;
- (b) the subject of any disciplinary action relating to your occupation or profession; or
- (c) disqualified from managing corporations under the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth).

19 Intellectual Property

19.1 You acknowledge that all materials, documentation or other information including any Intellectual Property Rights provided to you by, or accessed by you from, ASIC are the property of ASIC, and will at all times remain the property of ASIC.

19.2 Nothing in these Terms grants you any right to use or display any registered or unregistered trademarks or logo of ASIC, or any element of a registered ASIC trademark.

19.3 You must not use the word "ASIC" either on its own or in combination with other words and/or symbols:

- (a) in a domain name;
- (b) in an email address;
- (c) in a username in any social media forum; and
- (d) as the name or description of any of your services or products if ASIC directs you not to use the word "ASIC" in a service or product.

20 Severability and Waiver

20.1 If any term or part of a term of these Terms is held to be invalid or unenforceable, that term may be severed and the remaining terms or parts of the terms of these Terms continue in force.

20.2 Waiver of any term or condition of these Terms must be in writing and is effective only to the extent set out in any written waiver.

21 Notices

21.1 ASIC may advise or notify you of any matter on or via ASIC's website, by telephone, SMS, email, or mail to any relevant address you have provided to ASIC.

21.2 You must advise or notify ASIC of any matter relating to the ASIC Digital Services (including any changes to your contact details or circumstances that may affect your ability to comply with these Terms) in writing via hand, post or email by using the contact details below or any updated contact details notified by ASIC:

Position Title: Senior Manager, Data & Systems Integrity

Address: 14-22 Grey Street Traralgon, Victoria 3840

Email: webservices@asic.gov.au

ASIC may amend the contact details as provided above and will provide notice to you in accordance with clause 21.1.

22 Governing law and jurisdiction

22.1 You agree your access and use of the ASIC Digital Services are governed by, and will be interpreted in accordance with, the laws in force in the State of Victoria. You agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of that State and the Commonwealth of Australia for all matters relating to your access and use of the ASIC Digital Services.
