Sample application

List of all questions that may be asked in the AFS licence application

WARNING:

This is not an AFS licence application form.

It does not reflect the look and flow of our eLicensing online application.

Australian Securities and Investments Commission

June 2022

What is the sample application?

This sample application incorporates all the questions that may appear in the online AFS licence application, plus notes on how the online application works. Looking at the sample application is particularly useful if someone else is filling out your application for you.

The online application looks different from this sample as it operates as a series of screens that will guide you through each step.

You won't be asked all of the questions in the sample application because the eLicensing system tailors the online application to your business. The questions you will be asked will depend on your answers to certain initial questions, such as your entity type and the authorisations you are applying for.

Warning

The sample application is NOT an application form and cannot be used to lodge an AFS licence application with ASIC.

The actual online application form is available on our website at www.asic.gov.au/afsl.

Your Privacy

The information requested in this application is required for the granting of an AFS licence under the Corporations Act.

Some of the information collected as part of this application process will be made available to the public.

ASIC's eLicensing service enables you to apply online for an AFS licence.

Your AFS licence will authorise you to conduct one or a number of financial service activities. The various activities are described in the AFS Licensing Kit (RG 1 - RG 3).

The AFS licence has different types of services and products. You may apply for one or more of these types to be included on your licence. You must provide information and evidence on your capacity and competence to provide the financial services you are applying for. For more details see the AFS Licensing Kit.

Warning

Before commencing this application you must read and agree to the terms and conditions set out in The ASIC Electronic Lodgement Protocol - the legal agreement that governs the lodgement of documents electronically with ASIC.

Before you start using this service you should also be familiar with the following:

- AFS Licensing Kit
- ASIC licensing-related regulatory guides
- The instructions that explain how our electronic lodgement service works.

If, after reading the above information, you still have unanswered questions, contact your industry body or contact ASIC.

If you don't complete this online application according to the instructions your application will not be accepted for lodgement by ASIC.

Applying for an Australian financial services licence

Once you have started this application you can review previous questions and answers, save, print drafts of completed questions or exit at any time. You will need your user name, password, application number and ABN.

Electronic submission of this application does not constitute lodgement.
